It will leave you with a tear in your eye, a smile on your face and a renewed belief in human kindness. Meanwhile , Alexis' own health was deteriorating again and she needed life-threatening surgery. Incredibly, Alexis fought her way back to health with Maggie by her side, only for Maggie to die of lung cancer two years later on a vet's operating table. Six months later, the Maggie Fleming Animal Hospice was launched. He recovered alongside Alexis and went on to live for two more years. Looking after dying animals has taught Alexis what really matters in life - kindness, compassion and love. No Life Too Small is the joyful and inspiring story of the world's first animal hospice, celebrating the power and beauty of nature, the strength of the human and animal spirit, and the importance of love, friendship and community. Alexis was devastated that Maggie had died without her and decided to start an animal hospice in her name in the hope that she could ensure other animals nearing the end of their life would not have to die alone. As seen on Channel 4's Steph's Packed Lunch. With the help of the local community, despite many challenges, the hospice came to life. Alexis came through the operation and the road to her recovery was paved with companionship from the animals in her care, particularly Bran, a dog who had been dumped with terminal cancer and given six weeks. Alexis has turned a dilapidated farm in rural Scotland into a haven for animals to live out their last days in comfort and at peace. Things became so bad that she wanted to end her life many times during this period - but her beloved dog, Maggie, kept her going, especially when doctors gave her just six weeks to live.
