75 people died as a result of the fires; 47 in Victoria, and 28 in South Australia. This included 14 Country Fire Authority and three Country Fire

Service personnel, all 17 were volunteer firefighters. Many fatalities were as a result of firestorm conditions caused by a sudden and violent wind change in the evening which rapidly changed the direction and size of the fire front. The speed and ferocity of the flames, aided by abundant fuels and a landscape immersed in smoke, made fire suppression and containment impossible. In many cases, residents fended for themselves as fires broke communications, cut off escape routes and severed electricity and water... 09931ca8c7 Consisting of ten episodes, the first season aired from June 16 to August 18, 2010 on Wednesdays at 10:00 p.m. EST. In the issue of Billboard dated January 1, Simon & Garfunkel reached number one with "The Sound of Silence", displacing the final chart-topper of 1965, "Over and Over" by the Dave Clark Five. It was the first number one for the duo, who had broken up following the commercial failure in 1964 of their debut album Wednesday Morning, 3 A.M., on which the track appeared. In 1965, however, reacting to the growing popularity of folk rock music, Tom Wilson, who had produced the album, created a new mix of the song featuring additional musicians to give more of a folk rock feel. After it topped the Hot 100, the duo reunited and were extremely successful before breaking up again in 1970. During February and March 1966, three more acts reached number one for the first time: Lou Christie, Nancy Sinatra, and SSgt. Barry Sadler.
