The most widely studied models of computability are the Turing-computable and μ -recursive functions, and the lambda calculus, all of which have computationally equivalent power. Other forms of computability are studied as well: computability notions weaker than Turing machines are studied in automata theory, while computability notions stronger than Turing machines are studied in the field of hypercomputation. b687cec07b

Dramatism According to this theory, the world is a stage where all the people present are actors and their actions parallel a drama. Burke viewed dramatism from the lens of logology, which studies how people's ways of speaking shape their attitudes towards the world. (1955). Burke then correlates dramatism with motivation, saying that people are "motivated" to behave in response to certain situations, similar to how actors in a play are motivated to behave or function. , 1897. "Beyond Pentad to Hexad: Dancing Partners and Burke's Sixth step". Burke discusses two important ideas – that life is drama, and the ultimate motive of rhetoric is the purging of guilt. Topicality (policy debate) The difference is between what is said ("text") and what is allowed ("treaty" or "d'accord" or agreement or advocacy, etc. Some teams argue that grammar is key to the acceptability of an interpretation. "Interpretation" is a low-level standard argued by high school debaters but not quibbled verbatim, "interpretation", by seasoned debaters beyond college.). An Education standard asserts Topicality is a resolution issue in policy debate which pertains to whether or not the plan affirms the resolution as worded. To contest the topicality of the affirmative, the negative interprets a word or words in the resolution and argues that the affirmative does not meet that definition, that the interpretation is preferable, and that non-topicality should be a voting issue. how grammatically correct an interpretation is b687cec07b

Education in England remained closely linked to religious institutions until the nineteenth century, although charity schools and "free grammar schools", which were open to children of any religious beliefs, became more common in the early modern period. Nineteenth century reforms expanded education provision and introduced widespread state-funded schools. By the 1880s education was compulsory for children aged 5 to 10, with the school leaving age progressively raised since then, most recently to 18 in 2015. b687cec07b
